INTRODUCTION

The ID Register aims to minimise the number of requests we send clients and investors for information and documentation. We strive to make the process as efficient as possible for all parties, however, Know Your Client (KYC) Due Diligence involves a number of steps which can result in requests for further information.

The chief purpose of KYC is to identify the immediate client, the ultimate beneficial owners (UBOs) / controllers of the client and to check those parties for risk factors. Where additional risk factors and/or additional UBOs are identified, additional dialogue and documentation will be necessary.

The types of documentation and information required for each client varies based on a number of factors such as legal form (Corporation, Partnership, etc.) and geographic residency.

The ID Register has created this brief guide to give you an early warning on the information that will be requested at first instance and some of the indicators which will lead to requests for additional information.

BENEFICIAL OWNERS AND CONTROLLERS

The immediate investing entity is often a legal person such as a corporation / partnership. The ID Register will need to go through the documentation of this entity in order to identify the UBO's and controllers (typically directors) of the entity, often through a number of other entities such as holding companies owning more than 10% of the shares / partnership interest.

The ID Register will set up profiles for the intermediate owners and controllers until the UBO's are reached.

Key Tip: Sending The ID Register a structure chart (at initial onboarding or the initial stages of a fund closing) identifying the individuals and entities ultimately controlling the client will allow us to set up all the relevant profiles and send you a full list of documentary requirements to avoid piecemeal requests for information.

Typical Documentary Requirements for individual UBOs and Controllers: Proof of Address (Utility Bill / Bank Statement) and Proof of Identity (Passport/Driving License)

ENHANCED DUE DILIGENCE – INDICATIVE RISK FACTORS

GEOGRAPHIC RISK FACTORS

The ID Register generates risk factors based on details entered in the 'Due Diligence' section of the profile. These details include Country of Birth, Tax Residences & Profile Addresses amongst other information.
